LOCATION

Occold is a village approximately 5 miles south of Diss, some 2 miles to the east of the A140. Diss lies in the heart of East Anglia between Norwich, Ipswich, Bury St Edmunds and the coast. It has been identified as one of the centres for employment growth in East Anglia because of its location, benefiting from being on the main London to Norwich Railway line.

Diss Town has a population approaching 7,000 but serves a recognised rural catchment area of approximately 50,000 people.

The subject property is situated on the west side of Occold village in Elm Road, immediately adjoining the Huntingdon Life Sciences complex, and benefits from a through driveway with two separate accesses to the road.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation comprises a single storey building constructed with a concrete floor, brick and weather clad elevations under a range of different roofing materials. Office accommodation, staff room and wc's are provided at the front of the building, and the property benefits from two loading bays at the front and one at the side.

The building has an eaves height of 14'6" (4.42m) and a maximum height of 18'0" (5.5m).

The site area is just under 2 acres, providing ample on site car parking.
